I was here only for a little time but oh, what a time it was. Now I have gone on to my Heavenly Home and I am at peace. But just remember that I shall always be with you in spirit. So please don't weep for me for we shall all be together again someday, and what a time we will have. It's okay to be sad for a little while, but life goes on and don't forget that if you need me, I am as close as your heart.
